Implementation of COVID-19 Health & Safety Protocol at Pearl S. Buck International

Even though Pearl S. Buck International is not yet open to the public due to COVID-19, staff members are back in the office already preparing for our eventual reopening, with the health and safety of our patrons being our number one priority. While we are working on setting and being ready for a reopening date, here are some things you can expect next time you visit us:

- Hand sanitizer is available in multiple places in all the buildings on our grounds for staff, volunteers, and visitors to use
- Bathrooms and high-touch surfaces such as door handles, countertops, and light switches are being regularly and frequently cleaned and disinfected
- Temperature checks are required for all staff
- All staff and visitors are required to wear a face mask while indoors and where social distancing is not possible
- There is increased signage around the buildings on health and safety measures such as social distancing reminders and proper hand-washing protocol
- There will be capacity limits for house tours and in all indoor spaces (Cultural Center, International Gift Shop) according to state and local health and safety guidelines

We want everyone to feel safe, comfortable, and welcome when we open our doors again!
